Busker is an easy to use music arranger with a friendly touch. Simply connect it to your computer and drag and drop your songs. No special skills needed. Simply connect to a keyboard or microphone (either one works), and all your music will be played. Select one of Busker's included styles and practice. You can also play the musical staff lines to see how it's played. Be sure to select the correct key and tempo. You can also add your own voice to play the melody. Use Busker as a stand-alone application. If you use Busker to play back a song, it will automatically convert the song to MIDI. Using Busker as a MIDI stand-alone application means that you can connect it to your computer's sound system and start playing your new song. You can also save your song as MIDI format and share it with friends or with other programs. The best version of Busker as of the date of this review, was Busker Music Studio 2014 v1.2.0. From what I've seen, this is the last version of Busker. The newer version are more advanced but the older version works for most basic needs. Technical Details
